Weather Probabilities. January 21, 1880.-For the Middle States, clear or partly cloudy westher during the day, followed by three ening weather and rain or snow during the night, with northeast to southeast winds and stationary or a slight rise in temperature, and in the south-ern portions falling barometer.

THE GRAVE ROBBERS-ANOTHER EXAMI-NATION THIS MORNING .- The recent grave cobberies continue to be the sut | et of converwion, and the excitement was somewhat increased this morning by the arrest of Charles Chapman, a colered driver of a wagon similar to that described as having come for the bodies as the night of the 26th, on suspicion of being connected with the crime.

When the three men-Batter, Vaughan and Carpenter-were brought out of juil this morn ing the square in front of the station bouse was e owled with enlared people, and a guard had to be stationed on the steps leading to the Mayor's office, where the eximination was to take place, to keep the ackious throng back.

After examining Chapman's wagen, the ac onsed, at 10 o'clock, were arraigned before blayer Smith and Justices l'nompson and Whittlesey, Commonwealth's Attorney Brent being also present.

The first witness called was Mr. Rafferty, who dentified the pants recovered frem Batler's boarding house, and testified that he sold them

Mr. Webb testified that the wagon he saw on the night of the 26th was a light wagen with a dark cover, but did not think he could identify it; that he saw Batter, in company with a stranger, a light colored man, on Tursday morning, stop at Vaughan's gate, in grave yard Isne, and hold a conversation with the fatter; when he asked what Butler wes talking about, Vaughan told him he asked him for a

Officer Coleman testified that when Butler's pin's were found they were covered with mud. The prockets of the pants were searched, and cating other things found was a knife with eix led 3, which Vaughen satt Butler had barawad from him on the ci, he of the robbery. The following paper was thee read to Vaugion, which he reknowledged as his confession:

ALEXANDRIA JAIL.

January 23, 1831.

Albert Butler came to my house on the night of January 25th, 1881, and asket if I had any shovels, and I told him yes. We then proceeded to the grave in the Pranbyterian grounds and dug up the corpse. Albert and myself un-screwed the top and taken out the body, and had her bend towards the foot of the grave; left her dress rumpled around her waist. We then went into the new ground, and taken up the no ly of a calcrel gut; he then asked maif I answ who the girl wis, and I told him no; he teen told me, I will tell you some other time. We then left the grave and went down the isne to my house. I carried the shovel and spade, and in a spade, and he carried the prong hos. He then left my house and stated that the wagen would be here about 10 o'clock; he returned soon after and 1 told him the Devil was to play; that Mr. Webb and scared the parties with the wagen oil; he has ran away from my house and I do! not see the many more until 1 saw him at the station house. This is my confesion before Onlicers Goodfield Arnold (Signed)

The experiment among the colored people is a the increase, and was heightened to day by the report that neveral packages of "plaster" had been registed here not "put where wanted to the most good." This, in commence with the prevalent faith that orders are out for twenty five bodies, dead or alive, and the fact that the "course ionists" are at work in Righmend, strengthens their belief in kideappers, and wild stories are going the rounds among their race. They argue that if dead bodies are "lifted" for two dellars spices, that a slight a ! wines on this seem would be sufficient to steare the "scale ick" of live ones, and that as their color is preferred, none of them are safe. As it is known that this business can only be ourred or derive the cold weather, it is supposed ! that what has to be done will be done qu'ekly, as the spring will toon be here. It is said that the best thing knews to prevent the sticking of the placer, is to rub the face well with bear's oil, or, it this cannot be had, sturgeon oil wil-An old veil wrapped around the head and face is also recommended.

MARRIED AND BAPTIZED AT THE SAME FIME -One day last week, Mr. R. H. Lee, and Miss Hattie C. Triplett, both of Princs William county, Va, came to this city, and were married at the personage of the First Baptis Church, by Rov. W. S. Penick. After the ceremony, the happy couple left for Washington, where they spent the day in sight seeing, returning to Alexatdria late in the evening, when the bride, having been proviously receiv ed in 6 the church, was baptized by the minister who officiated at her marriage in the morning. "This was a most unusual scene," says a correspondent, "from the fact that it was a double union—the one with man, the other with Christ." The bride and groom returned to their home the next morning after the marriage and baptism.

There was no quorum of the sub-committee appointed at a recent joint meeting of the Committee on Public Property and the Commissioners of the hinking Fund to consider the fish question, at the meeting called in the chamber of the Board of Aldermen this afternoon. Several parties who fish on a small scale were present and cave their voice against requiring present and gave their voice against requiring all fish caught to be landed at the fish wharf and the retail of all fish from the market house. At the conclusion of the conference Mayer Smith took occasion to say that he would recom-mend to Council the adoption of a resolution permitting the rale of fish anywhere in the city,
